Description

The Central Tourist Office also wants to provide this area with an original and attractive tourism offer.

The diversity of themes and accommodation offered by motivated professionals translates into a range of products for holidays and weekends that will appeal to nature lovers, ornithologists, sailors, lovers of fine food and more.

It is housed in the half-timbered Maison du Parc.

Inaugurated in 1973, the Maison du Parc is central to the management of the PNRFO. This half-timbered farmhouse from Troyes was saved from demolition, and now houses the seat of the mixed syndicate for development and land management. It supports events as well as the development of economic, naturalist, scientific, cultural and sporting activities in the Forêt d'Orient.

The farm's barn has been turned into rooms for meetings and temporary exhibitions, and offices. The stable is now a room for permanent exhibitions.
