What we do

We protect Cornwall's wildlife and wild places on land and in our seas. We are passionate about conservation and have helped people enjoy nature for over 50 years.

Conserve habitats

- by managing 57 nature reserves, covering over 5,500 acres, that give refuge to rare and endangered species
- by working in partnership with farmers, land owners and fishermen to support wildlife friendly management through our Living Landscapes and Living Seas projects

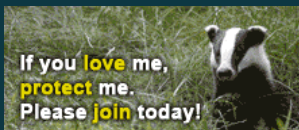

Protect wildlife

- by campaigning and lobbying to protect wildlife and its environment to influence government policy
- by recording and monitoring wildlife, allowing us to share our information, knowledge and expertise

Inspire people

- by raising awareness about Cornwall's wildlife through education, events and volunteer opportunities
