Get closer to nature with 7 Days of Wild Christmas

Posted: Wednesday, December 19, 2018 - 13:21

By: trustadmin

Feeling a bit stuffed after all that turkey? Need to escape the in-laws? Fancy getting outdoors to catch some winter wildness? We've got lots of ideas to inspire you to get outside, get active and connect with nature by doing one wild thing a day over the Christmas break, from the 25th December to 31st December. So grab your hat and gloves, and get set for #7DaysofWildChristmas!

Turn the yule 'tide' on plastic this Christmas

Posted: Thursday, December 13, 2018 - 12:41

By: LivingSeas

With growing concerns about the huge problem of plastic pollution, filling up our seas and harming both the environment and our wildlife, how can we reduce our festive plastic waste and enjoy a merry green Christmas? Maeve Foley, our Living Seas trainee, offers some top tips.

SCHOOLS MARINE LITTER ART COMPETITION 2019

Posted: Wednesday, October 31, 2018 - 12:16

By: LivingSeas

Ulster Wildlife and the Northern Ireland Science Festival are pleased to announce the launch of our Marine litter Art Competition 2019. Our competition is an initiative to raise public awareness, particularly among our students, to the high levels of marine litter, especially plastics, in our seas.
