How London Wildlife Trust raises and spends funds

London Wildlife Trust is only able to deliver on its mission to protect London's wildlife through the generosity of our supporters - our members, grant-giving trusts, local authorities, businesses and charitable trusts.

The majority of what we are given is spent on directly protecting London's wildlife and green spaces: managing over 40 nature reserves, working with children and local communities and campaigning for a greener London.

Whether giving as an individual, as part of a company or as a charitable trust, you can be sure that your money will be put to work where it is most needed.
