Wildlife is a priority at Vine House Farm in South Lincolnshire, where the vast majority of their bird seed is grown using award-winning, sustainable farming methods.

The way in which the farm is managed for wildlife is impressive - there are 15 acres of wild flower meadow, three miles of hedges have been planted, and 12 acres have been given over to new ponds.

There are nest boxes for tree sparrows and previously derelict farm buildings have been partially restored simply so they can provide a home for breeding barn owls. In fact everywhere you look on the farm you'll see measures and initiatives which have wildlife in mind. Their products are of the highest quality and are amongst the most competitively priced on the market.
