Leaving a gift in your Will could help protect wildlife where you live

Imagine leaving a gift that could truly last for generations, a gift that means your generosity can allow others to enjoy Worcestershire's wildlife and wild places for the future – just like you do now.

Leaving a gift in your Will to Worcestershire Wildlife Trust could make that difference. Every single gift in your Will, however large or small, counts. At Worcestershire Wildlife Trust we have been dedicated to looking after wildlife locally for the last 50 years, so you can be sure that every penny you choose to leave in our care will be well invested in wildlife conservation for the next 50 years.

Naturally, you will want to make sure your loved ones are looked after in your Will. You may want to think about leaving a proportion of what is left to charities close to your heart. Even a small percentage can make a big difference. Any gifts in Wills received by the Trust are added to our Conservation and Development Fund and are used for acquiring nature reserves and other special projects.

What a legacy to Worcestershire Wildlife Trust could do:

- Help us acquire important wildlife sites to protect them permanently
- Protect species of plant and animal that need our help
- Improve and extend our wonderful nature reserves
- Inspire young people about the natural world – tomorrow's conservationists
- Support our work across the county to create wildlife-rich landscapes in town and country
- Provide a voice for wildlife so that nature isn't taken for granted
