Adopt a species

Help to protect Welsh wildlife by adopting a badger, dormouse, puffin, squirrel or one of several species on offer in the Wildlife Trust adoption and sponsorship schemes.

Money raised goes to help local wildlife conservation work such as managing nature reserves and creating new wildlife habitat.

Please allow plenty of time for your order to be processed before delivery, especially at Christmas.

Details correct at the time of printing, but please confirm final details/prices with the local Trust concerned before placing your order, as details may be subject to change at short notice.

Adopt a Badger with The Wildlife Trust of South and West Wales

Price: £35

What you'll receive: A welcome letter, adoption certificate, fact sheet on your adopted animal, soft toy badger and an enamel badger pin badge. Once a year you'll also receive a report on the adopted animal and, where badgers are concerned, the Trust will update you on the progress of the vaccination program and how our badgers are getting on in Wales.

Additional: By adopting a badger you will help with the Trust work on promoting a Tuberculosis vaccine as a viable alternative to culling.

photographer Graham Eaton, a factsheet about Cemlyn Nature Reserve and a personalised adoption certificate. Additional: Cemlyn is a coastal nature reserve located on Anglesey, North Wales. The site's tern colony, which regularly hosts Arctic, Common and Sandwich Terns is the main focus of conservation work at Cemlyn. Because of disturbance at their traditional breeding areas, due to increased coastal access and development, terns have declined historically in Britain, so sites like Cemlyn, which still hold healthy populations, are a precious and nationally importance resource. Two wardens are employed every summer, to monitor and protect the terns. Your adoption will help support the annual cost of employing seasonal wardens.
