

Belletrista

Home | Reviews | New & Notable | Features | About Us | Contact | Donate |

Links we Like

World Literature Today: Literature, Culture, Politics

World Literature Today, the University of Oklahoma's award-winning magazine of international literature. WLT is also the sponsor of the $50,000 Neustadt International Prize for Literature and the Puterbaugh Conferences on World Literature.

<http://www.ou.edu/worldlit/>

Words Without Borders: The Online Magazine for International Literature

Words Without Borders (WWB) opens doors to international exchange through translation, publication, and promotion of the world's best writing.

<http://www.wordswithoutborders.org/>

Three Percent: A Resource for International Literature at the University of Rochester

Three Percent launched in the summer of 2007 with the lofty goal of becoming a destination for readers, editors, and translators interested in finding out about modern and contemporary international literature.

<http://www.rochester.edu/College/translation/threepcent/>

British Arts Council: Resources about translation

Explores the role of the translator and the challenges of translation.

<http://www.literarytranslation.com/>

The Afghan Womens Writing Project

The AWWP is aimed at allowing Afghan women to have a direct voice in the world.

<http://awwproject.wordpress.com/>

In Translation

Works in translation are a thoroughly neglected segment of the American literary market, and InTranslation has been created to serve readers, by exposing them to writers and writing they might not otherwise see, and translators, by making samples of their work accessible to those who may wish to publish it.

<http://intranslation.brooklynrail.org/>

International Pen Womens Writers Committee

The International PEN Women Writers' Committee was created in 1991 to address the special needs of women writers within the International PEN framework.

<http://www.ipwwc.org/english/allfr.html>

