Implead petition in appeal suit

Respected Learned Lawyers,
I would be very grateful if you kindly clarify the following doubt of mine.

A Civil Suit filed in the year 2010 before the trial court seeking permanent injunction against the defendants and mandatory injunction against the registering officials to cancel the fraudulent encumbrances made on the property. As the defendants failed to turn up to the honourable court, the ex-parte judgment & decree awarded in favour of the plaintiffs by the trial court. In the year 2016. While the first three principal defendants remained quite without appealing against the judgment / decree, the fourth defendant, a fraudulent Power Agent who obtained the Power of Attorney from a non-title holder of the property and who registered the Sale Deed well after the cancellation of the GPA granted to him by the fraudulent principal filed the appeal suit with in a month after the judgment / decree in 2016 and the appeal suit is being dragged till date in the sub-ordinate court. Now after three years of the filing of the appeal suit, an implead petition was filed under Order – I, Rule 10.

The question or my point of doubt is whether an implead petition can be submitted under Order I Rule 10 in an appeal petition by the non-joinders of the suit ?

Thanks & Regards
Balaji

Regarding disproportionate income rule

First of all thank you all seniors for responding with their views, Sir,Actually I wanted to know regarding the concept of DI,I have received cash from my relatives of around 3.00 lacs in span of 3-4 yrs due to this my saving is increased.As the money received is in cash I have no proof for that.

Living in a joint family my father used to bring most of the household items.
As far my salary account is related I used to withdraw some amount from that and deposited in another bank accounts. Due to this my saving gets increased.
Due to this I have asked this question on this forum coz I was not sure the DI concept or procedure.

Regards
Naresh

You may make a description of the problem faced instead of framing question paper for departmental promotion examination of CBI.

Speedy disposal of divorce case when the case is on trail

You have already engaged an able, competent and intelligent lawyer, have faith in him/her and proceed as advised. However, if you are dissatisfied with his/her performance or behaviour it is advisable to engage and consult another local prudent lawyer for proper appreciation of facts/ documents, guidance and proceeding. But do not rely upon the obligation of experts on this platform, despite the fact it is available FREE OF COST, since they (experts on this site) can form opinion and advise on the basis of limited facts posted by you.

1. Yes, the notarised PoA can sell the property.

Registered will not found.

There is no clue, head/tail to the will.

You are relying on the statement of a friend of your father he must tell you when and where was the will had been executed and registered, accordingly inspect records of concerned Sub-Registrar and obtain certified copy, if required.
