Dear querist,
You may approach High court for quashing Charge Sheet.

Dear Client file a 482 Cr.P.C. Application before Hon'ble High Court where both parties council will present your matter on the basis of Compromise Deed which will prepare before below court and then court will quash that chargesheet if need more clarification then you may contact us.

It's not matter that warrent has been issued or you got bail or not. Exactly what you want you just want to quash that chargesheet whatever filed by Investigating Officer before Court so in that case file 482 Application and again read what I mentioned in earlier reply. If still have any doubt you may contact us. Regards, Adv Anurag Bhatt Allahabad High Court

No issue you may file that application via council and also engage a lawyer on behalf of opposite party or opposite party may engage a lawyer therefore proceed further.

if the both party agree to terminate the rest of the procedure of this case then you may file a petition before the HC as per the provision section 482 Cr.P.C.... there are lots of ruling where apex court terminated concluding part of the case where both parties ware agreed for the same... so go ahead
