Vinyl siding is the most common siding product in Rochester, covering more home's than steel and cement fiber board. What makes vinyl siding so popular? The hassle free maintenance of vinyl siding gives homeowners less to worry about than traditional wood siding, which needs to be re-painted every 5 years or so. Vinyl siding requires no painting or staining. Vinyl siding provides the durability and strength of wood and steel, along with the natural textures and wood grains homowners have come to expect from a quality siding product.
