What to do if someone is clueless and facing mid life crisis and physical health issues which do not even allows to go for a job which demands good amount of time to spend on work?

I will keep on asking any number of questions till I come out with an answer. Because for me my life has became too precious now.

I have lost something the pain of which could be understood only by me.

And I don't want to indulge in detail of it.

just asking questions will not suffice...
you will have to dive deep within you meditate daily for 20 min it will help you to reduce the physical suffering it gives clarity in life.
you will have to do it consistently you can't be like you do it for 2 days...
oh I don't know
I dint get better
I dint get clarity and stop doing meditation .
you will have to do it for about an year or so under a proper guidance.

May God give you all the happiness and good health.
