Processing Info

Since all of our orders are made fresh to order we require a 3-5 day processing time for all consumer orders. We do this to make sure all products have the longest possible shelf life. For all business accounts we require a two week processing time. The reason for a longer wait time on business accounts is due to the fact that the order processing for business accounts is a much more detailed process.

Orders for business accounts require ingredients to be taken out of cold storage, and waiting a day to be brought to room temperature, then they take another day to be heated and pasteurized, next they are taken prepared by our production team, finally most business orders require a truck service to be arranged as the orders are often too large for UPS.

Business accounts can be defined as any customer(s) who use our flavor services as ingredients for their products.

We are proud to offer international shipping for all Nature's Flavors orders. For our international shipping please allow the same processing time as mentioned above, but also allow extra transit time to account for distance, as well as products being checked at customs. If you are experiencing difficulties placing an order to an international address, we suggest you contact our helpful customer service team at customerservice@naresflavors.com.
