Who We are

GEORGE N. PROIOS

Of Counsel

George heads the firm's intellectual property and transactional practices, in addition to assisting with the handling of maritime and admiralty matters involving cargo damage and loss and arbitrations of charter party claims. Prior to joining the firm George worked for a major intellectual property law firm in New York, Morgan & Finnegan, and has experience in handling a variety of intellectual property matters, including patent and trademark infringement litigation, trade secret litigation, as well as trademark and copyright registration applications for both domestic and foreign clients. On the transactional side, George has represented clients in sale, purchase, and lease transactions involving ships, tugs, and barges, and other types of industrial equipment.
